Overview

How information is used

Vezuff Books may collect personal information you choose to share, such as your name and email address when you subscribe to the newsletter or send a message through the site. Basic technical information, including browser type, device data, and pages visited, may also be collected automatically to help the website function properly and understand general visitor activity.

Personal information is used to respond to inquiries, send newsletter updates you request, improve website performance, and maintain site security. Vezuff Books does not sell your personal information. Information is only shared with trusted service providers when needed to operate the website, deliver email communications, or comply with legal obligations.

Cookies and links

Cookies, third parties, and updates

This website may use cookies or similar technologies to support essential functionality, measure general traffic patterns, and improve the visitor experience. A standard WordPress cookie banner is also used to help manage consent where applicable.

The site may contain links to third-party platforms such as LinkedIn, Instagram, Upscrolled, or newsletter services. Those external services have their own privacy practices, and Vezuff Books is not responsible for the content or policies of third-party websites once you leave this site.

By continuing to use this website, you acknowledge that some technical data may be processed to keep the site secure, functional, and thoughtfully maintained.

Vezuff Books

To protect our contact forms from spam and abuse, we use Google reCAPTCHA, a service provided by Google LLC. When reCAPTCHA is used, personal data may be processed, including your IP address, information about your device and browser, and your interactions with our website. This information is transmitted to Google and is used to distinguish between human users and automated bots.

The legal basis for this processing is our legitimate interest in ensuring the security of our website and preventing spam and fraudulent activities, or your consent where reCAPTCHA is activated only after consent has been provided through our cookie banner.

For more information about how Google processes personal data, please visit:

- <https://policies.google.com/privacy>
- <https://policies.google.com/terms>

Google reCAPTCHA may use cookies and similar technologies to analyze user behavior and protect forms against misuse and automated attacks. The use of these technologies is subject to Google's applicable terms and policies.

• Comments and Images Policy

When visitors leave comments on the site we collect the data shown in the comments form, and also the visitor's IP address and browser user agent string to help spam detection.

An anonymized string created from your email address (also called a hash) may be provided to the Gravatar service to see if you are using it. The Gravatar service privacy policy is available here: <https://automattic.com/privacy/>. After approval of your comment, your profile picture is visible to the public in the context of your comment.

If you upload images to the website, you should avoid uploading images with embedded location data (EXIF GPS) included. Visitors to the website can download and extract any location data from images on the website.

If you leave a comment on our site you may opt-in to saving your name, email address and website in cookies. These are for your convenience so that you do not have to fill in your details again when you leave another comment. These cookies will last for one year. Note that if you leave a comment, the comment and its metadata are retained indefinitely. This allows us to recognize and approve any follow-up comments automatically instead of holding them in a moderation queue.

Articles on this site may include embedded content (e.g. videos, images, articles, etc.). Embedded content from other websites behaves in the exact same way as if the visitor has visited the other website.

These websites may collect data about you, use cookies, embed additional third-party tracking, and monitor your interaction with that embedded content, including tracking your interaction with the embedded content if you have an account and are logged in to that website.

• Updates

This Privacy Policy may be updated from time to time to reflect changes in website features, legal requirements, or communication tools. The most current version will always appear on this page. If you have questions about this policy or how your information is handled, please use the contact pathways available on the site.
